

Excerpt from The Wall They Could Not See

Mrs. Fly and Miss Butterfly stared out the wall they could not see. They felt the warm sunlight on their wings and longed to be outside.

"Ah ha!" exclaimed Mr. Wasp. "I knew You were here somewhere. I searched for You in the dark place and I see that You have been with us the whole time."

Mrs. Fly and Miss Butterfly turned around, startled by Mr. Wasps outburst.

"Who are you talking to?" asked Mrs. Fly.

"Be still," replied Mr. Wasp, "and you will know."